

Notes on the Contributors

Alexey Belyakov – Candidate of Science (1984), Doctor of Geography (2000). Chief Expert of Modern Communications Expertise Centre LLC. The author of more than 100 scientific papers. In 1970-80s he was engaged in mathematic modelling of the stressed-deformed state of the largest ground dams (Nurek and Rogun dams on the Vakhsh River and others). He also took part in Turuhansk hydro-electric power station project development on the Lower Tunguska River. Since 1990, he had been developing concepts of Russia's surface water resources integrated regulation. Between 1999 and 2008, he was the professor of Moscow State Academy of Water Transport. E-mail: aabelak@mail.ru

Mikhail Golovnin – Candidate of Economic Science, Deputy head of the Centre for Problems of Globalisation and Integration of the Institute of Economy, Russian Academy of Sciences. In 2000 he graduated Master School of Economic Faculty of Moscow State University (economic and social policy). In 2003 he received candidate of science degree for his thesis "Monetary Sphere in Transition Economies (Comparing the Experience of Russia and Central and Eastern European Countries)". He is the author of more than 50 publications, including papers in the leading Russian economic journals (Voprosy Ekonomiki, Mirovaya Ekonomika i Mezhdunarodnye Otnosheniya, Problemy Prognozirovaniya, Obshestvo i Ekonomika etc.) Scope of research interests comprises monetary and financial integration, monetary policy, financial globalisation. E-mail: mgecon@mail.ru

Irina Gurova – Doctor of Economic Science, full professor, Head of the Chair of World Economy and History of Economic Thought at Ulyanovsk State University. She graduated from the economic faculty of Moscow State University in 1981, completed post-graduated studies and defended her Ph.D. dissertation at the Institute of Economy of the Academy of Sciences of the USSR in 1985. In 2000, she defended doctoral dissertation at Moscow State University. She authored 80 publications since 1981, including monographs The History of the Method of the History of Economic Thought and The Rival Economic Theories, handbooks The World Economy and International Economic Relations and The Ethics of International Economic Relations, textbook The World Economy honoured in the Third All-Russian Competition of Publications for Higher Education "University Book – 2006". Her research project enjoyed support from the Russian Humanities Foundation (2008), the

Modernisation and Development Foundation “Society” (2007), the German Service of Academic Exchanges (2003), the Ministry of Education of Russian Federation (2000), and Moscow Public Scientific Foundation (1998). E-mail: igurova@mail.ru

Murat Jadraliyev – MPIA Global Political Economy, University of Pittsburgh. Senior Analyst at the EDB Strategy and Research Department, Economic Analysis Unit. Prior to joining Eurasian Development Bank, he worked for the National Analytical Centre of the Government and the National Bank of the Republic of Kazakhstan. E-mail: jadraliyev_ma@eabr.org

Boris Heifetz – Doctor of Economic Science, Senior Research Fellow, Institute of Economics of the Russian Academy of Sciences. Russian external debt expert. Boris Heifetz has worked at the Institute of International Economic and Political Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences since 1971. At present, he is the Chief Researcher at the Centre of Comparative Studies of Transformation Processes. He has over 220 publications, including ten monographs and five brochures published in Russia and other countries (the United States, Finland, the Czech Republic, Hungary, Mongolia, Vietnam and Bulgaria). He works on a wide range of scientific problems related to financial globalisation and the specific features of particular countries’ participation in this process, regional corporate integration, and the interaction of international and internal capital markets, and the development of Russian transnational corporations. E-mail: bah@mail.northnet.ru

Leonid Kozlov – Doctor of Transport (2002) and a full member of Russian and International transport academies (2002). Director General of Modern Communications Expertise Centre LLC. A participant of the hydrotechnic, hydrotechnical melioration and road-transport projects, as well as repair and reconstructive works on automobile roads and take-off strips of the former Soviet Union cities’ airfields and cosmodrom Baikonur. He is the author of several scientific works and inventions in the area of construction and transport. Since 2003 he has presided over the Committee for Transport and Transit of International Manufacturers and Entrepreneurs Congress. Since 2008 he is a vice-president of International Manufacturers and Entrepreneurs Congress. E-mail: kozlov@transproekt.net

Alexander Libman – Candidate of Economic Science, Senior Research Fellow, Institute of Economics of the Russian Academy of Sciences; Research Associate, East China University; PhD Student, University of Mannheim; Senior Researcher at the Institute of Economics of the Russian Academy of Sciences; doctoral student of the University of Mannheim; Associate of the Centre of Russian Studies of the East China University. Graduated from the Financial Academy of the Government of the Russian Federation; took postgraduate studies at the Institute of International Economic and Political Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences; and a two-year study course at the University of Marburg. Published two monographs and some 200 other works in Europe-Asia Studies, European Journal of Comparative Economics, Social Sciences, Voprosy ekonomiki, Obschestvennyye nauki i sovremennost, Prikladnaya ekonometrika, Mirovaya ekonomika i mezhdunarodnyie otnosheniya, Obschestvo i ekonomika, Rossiyskiy zhurnal menedzhmenta, Svobodnaya mys', etc. E-mail: libman@rambler.ru

Johannes F. Linn – Senior Fellow and Executive Director at Wolfensohn Centre for Development, Brookings Institution, Washington, DC, USA. He was trained as an economist at Oxford University, England (BA, 1968) and Cornell University, USA (PhD, 1972). He joined the World Bank in 1973. From 1996 to 2003, he was the Bank's Vice President for Europe and Central Asia. Since September 2003 he is at the Brookings Institution, where he is currently Executive Director of the Wolfensohn Centre, a new centre dedicated to research on key development challenges. He served as lead author for the UNDP Central Asia Human Development Report published in December 2005. Since 2007, he currently serves as Special Adviser to the Central Asia Regional Economic Cooperation Programme (CAREC). He has published extensively on development and global governance issues. E-mail: JLINN@brookings.edu

Philippe De Lombaerde – Ph.D., Associate Director at the United Nations University – Comparative Regional Integration Studies (UNU-CRIS) in Bruges, and Visiting Lecturer at ZEI-University of Bonn. Previously he was Associate Professor of International Economics at the National University of Colombia and Lecturer at the University of Antwerp. He has recently edited Aid for Trade. Global and Regional Perspectives. Second World Report on Regional Integration (with Lakshmi Puri, Springer), and Governing Regional Integration for Development (with Antoni Estevadeordal and Kati Suominen, Ashgate). E-mail: pdelombaerde@cris.unu.edu

Natalia Maqsimchuk – MSc Business Studies; Senior Analyst at Economic Analysis Unit of the EDB Strategy and Research Department. More than ten years of experience in the UN system organisations. She has contributed to various publications on the issues of good governance, regional development, and external aid coordination. E-mail: maqsimchuk_nv@eabr.org

Alexander P. Mironenkov – PhD, Head of Technical Assistance Unit at the Eurasian Development Bank, author of a great number of publications on water and energy system development and creation of sustainable environment issues in Central Asian region and Eurasian Economic Community. E-mail: mironenkov_ap@eabr.org

Oksana Pidufala is currently working on political risk insurance issues at the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency (MIGA) at the World Bank. Prior to joining the World Bank group in 2008, she worked at the Wolfensohn Centre for Development at the Brookings Institution in Washington D.C. While at Brookings, Ms. Pidufala was engaged in research work on issues of Central and Eastern European transition, regional economic cooperation in Central Asia, and early child development. Ms. Pidufala studied international relations and economics at the I. Franko National University in Lviv, Ukraine (BA, MA) and at Syracuse University, USA (MA).

Zhanar Sagimbayeva – Senior Analyst at the EDB Strategic Planning Unit. She graduated from Kazakh State University and Oklahoma State University. She has more than 10 years of experience in development area at UNDP and government organisations in Kazakhstan. During 10 years she led the production of the Kazakhstan's Human Development Report and other UN analytical publications presenting social, economic, political developments in the country. As the head of UNDP Environment and Sustainable Development Unit, she had to deal with various environment projects including their design, implementation and evaluation. During 2006-2007s she was Coordinator of UNDP programmes in the areas of energy and environment, governance and poverty reduction. E-mail: sagimbayeva_zn@eabr.org

Yuriy Shcherbanin – Doctor of Economic Science, professor (1997), Head of Laboratory at the Institute of Economic Forecasting of the Russian Academy of Sciences. He graduated from the Diplomatic Academy of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation (1997), the Diplomatic Academy of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation (1987), and the Bucharest Institute of Oil, Gas and Geology (Romania) in petrochemical engineering (1975). Lecturer at Moscow State Institute for International Relations, the Academy of National Economy under the Government of the Russian Federation, Moscow School of Economy of the Moscow State University, Higher School of Economy (since 2004), head of the department at Astrakhan State University (since 2008), Vice-President of the Eurasian Transport Union (EATU), Director for scientific projects of the EATU CentreConsult (since 2000). From 2000 to 2008 he was a Professor at the Diplomatic Academy of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation. From 1998 to 2000 – Head of Department for International Cooperation at the Ministry of Transport of Russian Federation. From 1977 to 1998 – the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the USSR/Russian Federation, various assignments in the central office and abroad. E-mail: shcherbanin@ecfor.ru

Evgeny Vinokurov – Ph.D., Deputy Head of Strategy and Research Department, Head of Economic Analysis Division at the Eurasian Development Bank, author and editor of four individual and three collective monographs, including A Theory of Enclaves (Lexington Books, Lanham, 2007), Kaliningrad: Enclaves and Economic Integration (CEPS: Brussels, 2007), The CIS, the EU, and Russia: The Challenges of Integration (Palgrave Macmillan, London, 2007, with Katlijn Malfliet and Lien Verpoest), and the EDB Eurasian Integration Yearbook

2008 (EDB: Almaty). Chief editor of the quarterly Journal of Eurasian Economic Integration, published by the EDB since 2008. His current research focus is economic integration in Eurasia. Selected articles and reports are available at www.eabr.org/eng/publications/ and www.vinokurov.info. E-mail: vinokurov_ey@eabr.org

Brendan Whyte – Ph.D., a political geographer and cartographer with specialisation in boundaries, transportation and military geographies. He has published studies of the 200 enclaves along the India-Bangladesh border and the 30 enclaves in the Dutch-Belgian village of Baarle-Hertog/Baarle-Nassau. He has worked in Australia and Israel and is now a private researcher in Thailand. His recent publications include a translation and analysis of the inscriptions on the First World War Volunteers Memorial in Bangkok, and an analysis of the use of cartographic symbols on flags. He is currently compiling a railway atlas of Thailand.

Vladimir Yasinskiy – Head of Strategy and Research Department, Member of the Board at the Eurasian Development Bank. He was trained as economist at the Economic Faculty of Moscow State University and at the Institute for Economy of the Russian Academy of Sciences (post-graduate studies). His professional record includes teaching at the People's Friendship University in Moscow and multiple assignments in Nepal, China and India in the capacity of deputy Trade representative as well as deputy representative of Gazprom in China. He is with the Eurasian Development Bank since 2006. E-mail: yasinskiy_va@eabr.org

Vitaly Zbaraschenko – Vice-Chairman of the Transport and Transit Committee of the International Congress of Industrialists and Entrepreneurs, Chief Expert of Modern Communications Expertise Centre LLC. From 1967 till 1988 he held executive positions in the USSR Ministry of Navy. From 1988 to 1993 he was Director General of the Soviet-German shipping company Transnautic, and from 1993 to 2003 he was Director General of Azov Shipping. Email: vzbar@yandex.ru

Leon Zevin – Doctor of Economic Science; Senior Research Fellow, Institute of Economics of the Russian Academy of Sciences. He is a specialist and research supervisor in global economics, finance and external debt. Author of many publications on the problems of developing countries. In recent years he has studied the participation of Russia and other post-Soviet countries in the global economy and their cooperation with international economic organisations (the International Monetary Fund, the International Bank of Reconstruction and Development, the WTO, etc.). Based on the experience of CIS countries, he developed the concept of economic engagement in regional and international cooperation by entities of different levels. He has also studied the problem of combining interests at different levels (state – regional groups – business).